Miami City Ballet announces completion of its
Transforming Lives Campaign
Largest fundraising campaign in the organization’s history
Exceeding its $55 million goal

(Miami Beach, FL) – Miami City Ballet (MCB), one of the country’s leading ballet companies, is pleased to announce the successful completion of its Transforming Lives Campaign. The largest in the company’s history, the four-year organizational fundraising campaign had an initial goal of raising $55 million. MCB exceeded this goal, raising $57 million during the campaign period and securing pledges of $8 million for future fiscal periods, bringing the total impact of the campaign to $65M.
Led by Campaign Chair and former Board of Trustees Chair Kristi Jernigan, the campaign provided the funds for MCB to aggressively pursue its strategic initiatives. These initiatives fall within MCB’s four pillars for delivering the company’s mission: artistic expansion; community building; dance education; and organizational capacity. The campaign also increased MCB’s donor base with 2,000 new donors.

The campaign’s success has enabled MCB to grow artistically as a national leader in dance. The repertoire expanded with six company premieres and major productions such as George Balanchine’s Firebird and, most recently, Alexei Ratmansky’s Swan Lake and four world premieres by emerging choreographers. MCB created extensive sets and costumes for these productions, and they were performed to critical acclaim and sold-out audiences. Increased touring also resulted in rave reviews with stops at New York City Center’s 75th anniversary George Balanchine celebration, Music Center in Los Angeles, Chicago’s Harris Theater, two visits to The Kennedy Center, Les Étés de la Danse in Paris, and more. In addition, in 2022 MCB will visit the prestigious dance festival Jacob’s Pillow and Cal Performances in Berkeley, California.

Miami City Ballet School awarded nearly $2 million in tuition and housing scholarships based on merit and need. Pre-professional students performed in major productions, including George Balanchine’s The Nutcracker®, A Midsummer Night’s Dream, and Swan Lake. During the campaign, eight students joined MCB’s professional company and six more joined prestigious international companies.

MCB’s community engagement programs have also expanded. Its signature outreach program, Ballet Bus, now in its seventh year, has seen significant growth during the campaign period. By providing children with a long-term commitment to eliminating barriers and providing access to a robust, expert ballet curriculum, ten students are training on pointe, two were accepted into the New World School of the Arts, and several have appeared in professional stage productions of The Nutcracker, A Midsummer Night’s Dream, Firebird, and Swan Lake.

Other programs expanded beyond MCB’s studios. STEAM+, a program that explores the science and math subjects through dance, now serves 1,800 students from Miami-Dade Title 1 Schools. Palm Beach Summer Dance Camp is entering its third year. And nearly 13,000 students and families have attended a free performance through Ballet for Young People and Ballet for Families, interactive performances committed to eliminating barriers to access to the arts.

Additionally, the organization has sustained a $20-25 million annual operating budget, raised a $4 million Dancer Support Fund to assist dancers and artistic staff during the pandemic, and improved facilities with over $2 million in capital improvements such as new windows, HVAC, floors, studio lighting, and a new roof.

These outcomes of the campaign allow MCB to build a more equitable and inclusive pipeline for students while expanding opportunities for more diverse audiences to experience ballet.

Ms. Jernigan adds, “When the campaign was initiated in 2018, $55 million was an unprecedented goal. Add to it the unforeseeable impact of the pandemic; the thought of reaching our goal, at times, felt like a distant dream. But through hard work and perseverance, we not only achieved our goal, we exceeded it. We found a community of supporters, a bonded and expanded Board, and an army of talented employees who rose to the occasion. I could not be prouder of everyone’s efforts and the campaign’s overwhelming success.”

Current Board Chair Jeffrey Davis states, “The Transforming Lives Campaign was appropriately named. By successfully raising this amount of money, we have been able to provide a true difference in the lives of our students, artists, and communities. We look forward to building upon the momentum we have.”

“MCB is stronger and our future brighter than ever,” says Artistic Director Lourdes Lopez. “We could not have done this without the support of so many, including Kristi, Jeff, and the countless others who gave so generously and advocated for this art form that I know firsthand has the power to transform lives. I also want to acknowledge the outstanding work of our remarkable development team and the entire MCB family.”
